

A&R Logistics Awarded the Outstanding Safety Performance Trophy

Morris, IL – May 19, 2011 – A&R Logistics has been awarded the 2010 Outstanding Safety Performance Trophy presented annually by National Tank Truck Carriers (NTTC) and Heil Trailer International. A&R Logistics was recognized for this prestigious honor judged to have the best in class safety program in the tank truck industry. A&R Logistics was selected from over 106 competing carriers.

“As a company we are truly honored and privileged to have been selected for this award especially considering all the other really great companies that participated in the process,” said Jeff O’Connor, President and CEO of A&R Logistics. “While safety has always been a priority in our organization, the real congratulations in my mind belong to all the employees at A&R who make safety the number one priority every day as they are the ones that really make it happen.”

The Heil award is designed to recognize the carrier that best showcases a commitment to safety. The judges selected A&R Logistics because of their outstanding safety record, excellent preventative maintenance program, and overall contributions towards improving both industry and general highway safety all throughout 2010.

The trophy will be presented to A&R Logistics at the National Tank Truck Carriers 63rd Annual Conference in Baltimore, MD on May 24th.

About A&R Logistics

A&R Logistics is one of the nation’s largest providers of bulk transportation, packaging, and logistics services to the plastic resin industry. The company operates from 36 facilities throughout the United States and manages a fleet of approximately 825 tractors and 1,800 bulk trailers. A&R Logistics is headquartered in Morris, IL.